Want to learn some tips and tricks on how to make the most of your new set of bins? Council is bringing the ever-popular Kate Fenwick (formerly Meads) to town for a workshop to help our locals reduce their waste, care for our beautiful environment and give practical and useable tips and tricks for the new food scrap bins. If you're often puzzled by recycling and unsure if it makes a difference, this session is for you. Kate will clarify where waste and recycling actually ends up in New Zealand and explain your crucial role in managing your own waste. Whether you're just starting your journey toward waste reduction or looking to deepen your existing knowledge, this seminar is the perfect opportunity to make a positive impact. For over 17 years, Kate Fenwick has been delivering entertaining and inspiring waste minimisation events and campaigns across the country at countless towns and cities. She doesn't preach about being "completely waste free", but rather focuses on educating and inspiring participants on a variety of changes they could make every day. Don't miss out on this opportunity, full of witty humour, reality checks, and encouragement that may also challenge your thinking about trash!

Spaces are limited. Tickets are just $10, including a gift pack valued at $40! Get your tickets now from www.wastedkate.co.nz

Recycle old cell phones at your nearest LibraryPlus

Have an old mobile phone lying around? Don't know what to do with it? Drop it into your local LibraryPlus where it will be recycled! It doesn't matter if it is working or not, has a broken screen or even if it doesn't turn on, we want them all! Council is working with RE:Mobile to recycle all unwanted mobile phones. Inside any smartphone are over 20 different materials used to make it function, including gold, silver, palladium and platinum. While most of these materials are only present in each phone in small amounts (there are about 0.034g of gold and 0.34g of silver in the typical iPhone), it all adds up, especially when there are an estimated seven billion mobile phones in use world wide. The great news is that nearly all parts of your mobile phone can be recycled and reused to make new devices. Before you donate your mobile phone, there are five steps we encourage you to do:

1. If the phone still turns on, disconnect it from any cloud service and complete a factory reset to erase any data from the phone.
2. Remove your sim card from the phone and keep it.
3. Leave the battery in the phone.
4. Switch the phone off.
5. Drop it into your local LibraryPlus.

It's as easy as that! For every phone recycled, RE:Mobile donate money to Sustainable Coastlines, a multi award-winning New Zealand charity working hard to look after the waterways and coastlines we all love. Learn more about what RE:Mobile does at www.remobile.org.nz
